

Dear Prachi,

Exciting news! It's official...

We received a lot of quick, positive feedback and John and I are launching the new Globally Conscious Leader group course & mentor program where we will personally help you (and your organization)

- build your personal, professional and organizational legacy
- Spark - and place yourself in a rewarding position as a unique, visible and valuable contributor and leader towards - a globally conscious transformation in your organization

Our goal is to start helping 20 people with this in the next few weeks.

Reply or DM me and let me know!

Warm Regards,

Steve

The Globally Conscious Leader

PS - The 20 awesome people that do join me before August 25th will be getting incredible bonuses and the best deal I will ever offer for this program. 😊

(Here is one bonus: I just got a text confirmation from the always awesome Alex Lauver, who is the Senior Director of Materials Innovation & Sustainability at Outdoor Research. His mentoring session is one of the bonuses available to anyone who acts before the deadline).

Dear Prachi,

In September, we'll start helping 20 Globally Conscious Leaders & Aspiring Leaders enjoy the rewards and impacts that come from being unique, visible and relevant inside their organization.

We'll guide you how to encourage and drive those rewards and impacts around you, across your company, and across your local and global communities.

It won't be easy at all.

But it will likely be the most rewarding thing you've done in a long time. And you won't be alone, as we'll be providing a truly massive amount of support along the way.

Why are we offering this?

1) I've helped companies (most of them industry leaders in sustainability, ESG, DEI, etc) sell more than a billion dollars (not a typo) of amazingly well-made, sometimes recycled and partially recyclable products. That is an impact that I am proud of. And I want to do better!

2) John and I have gathered centuries of cumulative experience in Globally Conscious Leadership and sustainability. We all believe we can have an outsized impact on industry and organizations by working with more people like you to enhance personal skills and increase organizational excellence and global impact.

3) We want to give back, connect, collaborate, and share what we have learned. We are deeply concerned with the physical and emotional states of our planet, and believe that organizations and their leaders are uniquely situated to make the biggest impact, right now!

If you want to see if you're a good fit for one of the last 20 spots,

Reply and let me know!

Warm Regards,

Steve

The Globally Conscious Leader

Dear Prachi,

The Globally Conscious Leader's course + coaching offering, The Zero+ Blueprint, will help you achieve alignment between yourself, your department or division, and your company with globally conscious core values, actions and outcomes.

The Globally Conscious Leader came about when John and I realized that we have succeeded wildly in helping organizations and people design, manufacture and sell billions of dollars in products, and that we had our own 'Unmeasured Externalities' that we weren't paying attention to: Chiefly, we had added significantly to the problems of global climate change and resource depletion. And we knew there was a better way.

We decided to bring together business and nonprofit leaders in sustainability, materials sciences, supply chain and humane leadership who could help (us and) you have an outsized impact on socially conscious organizational practices and global outcomes by sharing with you what they are doing and learning and planning - right now in the trenches!

In September, we'll start helping 20 Globally Conscious Leaders & Aspiring Leaders enjoy the rewards and impacts that come from being unique, visible and relevant inside their organization.

Do you see yourself as a current or aspiring globally conscious leader?

Do you want to level up and have a global impact and better outcomes?

Let me know if you or your team are interested in learning more.

(Just got confirmation over the weekend that Stephen Sloan, founder of Humane Leadership Institute, an incredible teacher and leader in organizational excellence and performance - also a personal mentor to me and one of the wisest, compassionate Sages I have ever come across - will be providing a free group coaching session on Humane Leadership and performance leadership to everyone who signs up before enrollment closes on August 25th!

Warm Regards,

Steve

The Globally Conscious Leader

Dear Prachi,

As John and I are talking to new participants and building out the curriculum for The Globally Conscious Leader's new 'The Zero+ Impact Blueprint' hybrid course + coaching program, I asked him to provide, in his own words, what you will do and accomplish when you join us by the August 15 deadline.

1. Recognize the criticality of the global situation and decide to take big steps
2. Set up a big, irrefutable goal; absent something more appropriate for their unique situation, No Unmeasured Externalities
3. Discover and explore their externalities, apply metrics, focus on the biggest and most fixable (ie, leverage and payback considerations), and develop programs to reduce them
4. Offer methodologies and frameworks for leaders to deepen as people, interior development programs that will help them sustain the life course they are choosing and have fuller, more satisfying lives
5. Reach out in specific ways to their major stakeholders to enhance sustainability of the total operation
6. Verbalize fundamental, ethical principles that help guide our behavior in this new era of global crises; the principles are ancient and timeless, but they've oddly not been widely adopted in business. These days, we need them.
7. Reach out beyond the company itself to industry groups, legal and governmental entities, etc, to promote and go beyond sustainability for the sake of our children and grandchildren

If this sounds like you, come join us in The Globally Conscious Leader's hybrid course + coaching program: The Zero+ Impact Blueprint.

Hit reply for more information.

Warm Regards,

Steve

The Globally Conscious Leader

Dear Prachi,

Here's a little behind-the-scenes look into what you'll do inside The Zero+ Impact Hybrid Coaching Program...

We'll start with a 10-week live course and coaching process, where you will

- get a deep understanding of Irrefutable Goals so you can harness them to drive and align personal and organizational excellence (we'll even hand you an Irrefutable Goal that will get you running quickly)
- enjoy hands-on MOCA (Motivation, Opportunity, Clarity and Ability) training so you can develop self-sustaining accountability and high-performance in yourself, those around you and across your organization
- increase your value, visibility and influence so that you can join, develop and enhance sustainability and social responsibility teams in pursuit of excellence
- understand and leverage project management styles, Human Centered Design, and Systems Thinking to create lasting, positive, and repeatable strategies to tackle issues of sustainability and social responsibility for all of your stakeholders around the world
- and of course much more

And for those that join us before our August 25th deadline, you will receive a bunch of free stuff along with the course

- The best deal we will ever offer for this program
- Free Support for a year: Group coaching and mentoring through September 2024. Change is hard, and you won't be left alone. You'll have access to all of us to help you along!
- Free group coaching/mentoring with Alex Lauver, the Senior Director of Materials Innovation & Sustainability at Outdoor Research, a remarkable leader with an amazing set of experiences in leadership, supply chain, materials, and team development to name just a few
- Free group coaching/mentoring sessions with Stephen Sloan, the founder of Humane Leadership Institute and perhaps the world's foremost leader and educator in how to use MOCA to drive performance
- Free access to The Global Conscious Leader's Elite Peer & Mentor Community for a year
- Free access to The Globally Conscious Leader Toolkit: Our ever expanding library of templates and tools you can use daily to enhance your successes

Inside The Globally Conscious Leader's Zero+ Impact Hybrid Coaching Program we will be

- solving big problems for 20 people over the next year
- with elite groups of peers and industry leaders
- providing hands-on and immediate feedback
- so you can enjoy increased personal and organizational impacts

Lets go beyond the surface to create meaning and real purpose.

If this sounds like you, hit reply for more information.

Warm Regards,

Steve

The Globally Conscious Leader
